Focus on What Works:
Proxet's Tech Bulletin

We've got some big insights to share in this month's newsletter:

- Upgrade your fintech data: Move from spreadsheets to smart, scalable data platforms for better decisions and tangible ROI.
- Data before AI: Solid data infrastructure is non-negotiable for achieving true organizational intelligence.
- Resilient cloud: Learn essential strategies to build infrastructure that is resilient by design and stop just reacting to cloud failures.

Learn about modern data practices in fintech

Our latest guide breaks down how to move from spreadsheets to smart, scalable data platforms to make better decisions and achieve tangible ROI.

The "AI first" trap: why data infrastructure isn't optional

"In order to achieve true organizational intelligence and insight, you need to be able to trust the data; it needs to be properly structured. If you go AI first, it's always going to be a nice proof-of-concept — in a sea of nothingness — and it will be very difficult to systemize and industrialize across the organization if the data piece is missing."

— Dmitry Orlovsky, Managing Director — Digital Engineering

Learn how to do it right from the start

Is your business prepared for the next cloud failure?

Stop just reacting to outages. Learn how to build infrastructure that is resilient by design. Our latest article covers essential steps, from implementing load balancer health checks to using advanced (almost) fail-proof strategies.
